LASER TATTOO REMOVAL ADVICE

Recent laser tattoo removal technology, has become much more effective at removing tattoos with very little risk of long term scarring. In short term, laser tattoo removal will always create a superficial white frosting which is completely natural and what is expected of a successful laser tattoo removal treatment. Some patients may experience a little bruising, swelling or blistering, which again is perfectly normal and is actually a sign that your immune system is already healing the area and beginning to remove the ink from your skin. To help alleviate these perfectly normal side effects and to help speed up your recovery time, follow our simple advice on laser tattoo removal aftercare below.

BEFORE TREATMENT

- Avoid exposure to sunlight and sun-beds for at least 4 weeks.
- If the tattooed area is covered by hair, please shave the area 1 day before treatment.
- Do not apply any moisturising creams to the area.
- On the day of the treatment ensure that your tattoo is free of make-up, moisturiser, lotions, deodorant and oil.

LASER TATTOO REMOVAL- FAQ

Will laser treatment hurt?

It feels like an elastic band been twanged against the skin! So whilst not painless, it's quicker than getting a new tattoo as each treatment only lasts between 5 and 20 minutes. Discomfort can be reduced by applying anaesthetic cream beforehand.

Is laser tattoo removal safe?

Yes! During laser tattoo removal the laser operates in short, fraction of a second bursts, targeted only at your tattoo. It does not affect surrounding skin.

Can you remove a multi-coloured tattoo?

Most colours can be removed with laser tattoo removal. Black, dark blue and red tattoos respond really well to laser removal. More difficult tattoo colours to remove are white, yellow, purple and pink, but are easier to cover up. Green is probably the most difficult tattoo colour to remove. Laser Treatments uses an advanced laser that is good for most colours giving you the best results possible.

Is laser tattoo removal suitable for anyone?

Laser Treatments insist on an initial consultation with questions on your general health and any medication you take. If you are fit and healthy, answer questions honestly and follow recommended aftercare you should be fine.

Will laser tattoo removal scar me?

No! Laser tattoo removal should not scar you. Instead of forcing ink out through the skin, it breaks it down so your immune system can attack and pull it out through your lymphatic system.

How many sessions are required?

Several treatments may be needed before the tattoo fades enough to no longer be seen. The number of sessions is dependent on the tattoo complexity, ink type, colours used, tattoo depth, tattoo age and skin colour of the client. 5-15 laser tattoo removal sessions may be required before the tattoo fades entirely. Session times vary dependent upon the size and complexity of the tattoo and patient sensitivity.
